

The rules need to be maintained - perhaps tightened. I find more and more that the most balanced news I can find is on public radio or BBC new on PBS. Some of what purports to be news coverage is laughable. In order to avoid conflict of interest and thereby support a better informed voting public our airways must be protected by at least the current standards.